

Coordination of the central and peripheral nervous systems for normal urinary voiding

The coordination of the central and peripheral nervous systems during bladder filling and voiding required for normal urinary continence.

Graphic 65433 Version 3.0